The "Sanatana Dharma Ready Reckoner" series refers to evidence-based, concise guides, often authored by independent researchers like Kallol and others on platforms like Zenodo, that provide a systematic, scientific, or philosophical overview of Hindu principles. These guides typically cover core concepts such as ethics, karma, cosmology, and the四 purusharthas (goals of life). ⊙ Zenodo +4

Key aspects and related resources include:

- Ready Reckoner Series: These, such as "Sanatana Darshana: A Ready Reckoner for Hindu Dharma" (2025) and "Sanatana Dharma: A Scientific Ready Reckoner" (2026), are designed to act as concise, evidence-based introductions to Hindu philosophy for modern audiences, including agnostics or researchers.

- Key Themes: The series often covers the "four purusharthas" (Dharma, Artha, Kama, Moksha), the concept of Brahman (oneness), and the practical application of Vedic wisdom in daily life.

- Alternative Introductory Texts: Other accessible books that act as overviews include "Sanatana Dharma" by Narayanan and Padma Komerath (280+ pages) and "The Essential Sanatana Dharma".

- Focus Areas: Many of these books aim to explain complex rituals, traditions, and philosophy in a simple, rational, and modern context, often focusing on the "way of life" aspect rather than just belief. ⊙ Zenodo +6
